The name HCX communicates "HCM to the 'x' power," representing its view on the exponential power and possibilities of HCM technology. The company primarily provides support for PeopleSoft to other companies in the conglomerate as well as clients outside of the conglomerate. Over time, its solutions offerings have grown to include a wider range of implementation, managed services, integration, and training services for a multitude of software such as Salesforce, Sprinklr, and DocuSign.

Staffing challenges uncover support inefficiencies

Despite facing certain challenges during the Great Resignation of 2022, it seized the opportunity to optimize its operations. "We had to adjust to the talent and skills shortage, but it gave us a chance to evaluate our processes," said Criselda de Jesus, Department Head, HCM and CRM Solutions at ABSI, Parent Company of HCX Technology Partners. During this evaluation, it recognized the need to align the support they received from Oracle with their business-critical customizations. As a result, the HCM provider found a partner that offers responsive and comprehensive support for its PeopleSoft platforms, allowing them to better serve their clients.

One partner solves multiple IT needs
